Marietta, GA. DEKRA Emission Check opens a new emission-only test station at the Greenbriar Mall in front of the Tag Office in Fulton County (2841 Greenbriar Parkway, Atlanta, GA 30331). The Company operates over 30 emission test stations in the Atlanta metropolitan area and in Dallas, Texas. DEKRA is an inspection-only operation, providing independent unbiased emission tests for vehicle owners to obtain vehicle registration. Atlanta residents, who own vehicles older than 3 years, have to renew their car registration yearly by providing a valid driver's license, proof of insurance and a passed emission test.

In order to facilitate the registration process, DEKRA Emission Check opens several new stations in close vicinity to Atlanta's residents. "We are a community oriented company and our goal is it to bring professional emission test stations closer to the public. To do so, we establish our stations close to tag offices and residential areas and other places where our customers have easy access," said Ken Meissner, Vice President of DEKRA Emission Check. DEKRA will open several other emission-only test stations in Smyrna, Alpharetta and in Cumming.
