Marietta, GA. In an effort to bring the required emission test closer to the customer, DEKRA Emission Check Inc. opens its door to 2 new emission stations in Atlanta. “As a community-oriented company we felt the need to bring our services closer to the customer. We identified areas in Atlanta where customers might have to drive longer distances on average to get their emission test done”, said Ken Meissner, Vice President of DEKRA Emission Check, Inc.

DEKRA strategically places their new stations at important locations where they are easily accessible to the moving public. “Our stations have to be visible to customers, clean and well illuminated, so that our customers feel safe and welcomed”, said Kirk Fordham, area manager of DEKRA Emission Check.

The 2 new stations have a special meaning to DEKRA: One is located at 3273 Atlanta, RD in the city of Smyrna, which will be DEKRA’s first inspection-only station in this area. The second new station will open in the first week of June. It is located at 10995 Statebridge Road in the Bridgepoint Shopping Plaza just a block away from DEKRA’s old location. “We have been on Statebridge Road for many years and have good relationships with the residents there. Most of our business came from repeat customers. Unfortunately, we were forced to close the station there at the beginning of the year. We are happy to announce the opening of our new station in close proximity to the old location”, said Ken Meissner.
